Shooting for the STARS

The Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education (AASHE) leads colleges and universities to be foundational models for a thriving, equitable, and ecologically healthy world. Their Sustainability Tracking, Assessment & Rating System (STARS) is a national standard for sustainability in higher education. The Office of Sustainability is proud to announce that after doubling down on campus efforts, UT Dallas has earned STARS Gold status. Review our metrics in the UT Dallas STARS report.

RecycleMania

From February 2nd to March 28th, UT Dallas will be participating in a nationwide competition that encourages college campuses to reduce landfill waste and recycle more mindfully. The goal is to increase our recycling rate and decrease overall waste. Over the 8-week period, we will be reporting the amount of recycling and waste we consume campus-wide and will be ranked among other participating schools. We need your help all competition long! Learn about how to recycle on campus and about RecycleMania.

Tree Campus USA
